"That's a word I never know whether to be embarrassed about." young faces pressed against the rear window. At that moment Sirocco turned back another flap; Col- man saw Anita's face inside the bag. It was white, like marble, and waxy. He swallowed and stared woodenly. The Chironian's eyes flickered briefly across his face. "Someone you knew?" From another tire, a second gator peels off, tumbling in coils after the first. It was after 0400 hours, local, when Colman returned to the room which he shared with Hanlon in the Omar Bradley Block, which in the system of twenty-four Chironian "long hours" day was about as miserable a time of day as it was on Earth. With the room to himself since Hanlon was on night duty, he crawled gratefully between the sheets without bothering to shower to make what he could of the opportunity to sleep undisturbed until his call at 0530. "I would have let her win," said Leilani, "out of courtesy and respect for her advanced age, but before I." "Well, maybe I've padded your bill to make up for not keeping that ten thousand," he said, though he. For now, they travel without a destination, vagabonds but not carefree. He grinned at the joke as he, turned to lead the way. Farnhill didn't seem to appreciate the humor. If Curtis could trade this particular swell adventure for a raft and a river, he would without hesitation. "Luki was born with a wickedly malformed pelvis, Tinkertoy hip joints built with monkey logic, a right. The major stared at him as if refusing to believe his ears. "Get outa here," he choked in a weak voice. He shook his head incredulously, "Just . . . get the hell outa here, willya..." To preserve the essential characteristics of the American System, life aboard the Mayflower I1 was organized under a civilian administration to which both the regular military command and the military-style crew organization were subordinated. The primary legislative body of this administration was the Supreme Directorate presided over by a Mission Director, who was elected to office every three years and responsible for nominating the Directorate's ten members. The term of office of the current Mission Director, Garfield Wellesley, would end with the completion of the voyage, when elections would be held to appoint officers of a restructured government more suitable for a planetary environment. Bernard stared grimly while he pictured again in his mind's eye the hole that had been blown in the surface of Remus. "We've got. to stop it," he breathed. "We've got to get a message up there somehow. . . to Stern. . . telling him what he's up against. Thousands of people are still up there." "Leilani, honey, you're not going back there," Geneva declared. "We're not going to let you go back to." "I still don't understand the politics behind it all though," he said to the two Chironians who were accompanying him and Jay toward the cafeteria in the Administration Building in front of the main reactor site, where they were due to have lunch. One of them was a young Polynesian named Nanook, who worked with control instrumentation; the other was a slightly younger, pale-faced blonde called Juanita, who dealt with statistics and forecasts and seemed to be more involved with the economic side of the business. Kath herself had taken her leave earlier, explaining that she was expecting another party of visitors. Bernard spread his hands in an imploring gesture. "I mean... who owns the place? Who decides the policies for running it?" Lechat stared at her, but his mind still hadn't untangled the full implications. Beside him Colman's jaw clamped tight. "Somebody faked it to look like the Chironians did it," Colman grated. "What saith thee, young maiden, in the presence of Cleopatra?" Stopping two steps inside the door, we waited for the lights to come on. It was the coolest thing ever. The Chironians suddenly appeared intrigued. "We suspected that it bad to be something like that," Casey said, sitting forward on the couch beside Veronica. "But how can you prove it?" The suspicion he'd directed at Wendy Quail had been misplaced. use. Although trembling with the pressure of his misplaced rage, he doesn't vent it, but leaves Curtis. pocket and held it in front where both of them could watch it, while Swley deactivated his own. A few seconds later, the faces of Wellesley, Borfein, and Lechat appeared on the tiny screen. Colman closed his eyes for a moment and breathed a long, drawn-out sigh of relief "They made it," he whispered. "They're all in there." Freshening her own coffee, Geneva said, "I don't find Big Bird very scary, dear, just unnerving." close to Celia's ear. "What?" under the wheels of the runaway SWAT transport.
