You don't know what that is?".She lay awake in the little house, feeling the air stifling and the ceiling pressing down on her,,seemed a bit crude. Heavy-handed ... She didn't say where she'd learned it. Here, of courseIn her bed, in the dark, she lay and thought: He knew the wizard who named me. Or I said my name. Maybe I said it out loud in my sleep. Or somebody told him. But nobody knows it. Nobody ever knew my name but the wizard, and my mother. And they're dead, they're dead... I said it in my sleep....Through love, respect, and trust, Dragonfly would never disregard a warning from Rose; but she was unable to see Ivory as perilous. She didn't understand him, but the idea of fearing him, him personally, was not one she could keep in mind. She tried to be respectful, but it was impossible. She thought he was clever and quite handsome, but she didn't think much about him, except for what he could tell her. He knew what she wanted to know and little by little he told it to her, and then it was not really what she had wanted to know, but she wanted to know more. He was patient with her, and she was grateful to him for his patience, knowing he was much quicker than she. Sometimes he smiled at her ignorance, but he never sneered at it or reproved it. Like the witch, he liked to answer a question with a question; but the answers to Rose's questions were always something she'd always known, while the answers to his questions were things she had never imagined and found startling, unwelcome, even painful, altering all her beliefs..gave him his country name; she was a farm woman from Endlane village, around northwest of Mount."I made the wrong choice.". "Medra," she said. Her sore mouth could not speak clearly. He knelt down and took her hands.,They had to share a room at the crowded inn with two other travellers, but Ivory's thoughts were perfectly chaste, though he laughed at himself a little for it..been his secret..To which Silence of course had said nothing, letting him hear what he had said and feel its foolishness thoroughly..amount to much that I can see. He did no good to my cow with the caked bag, two years ago. And his."And who shall stand against him?" said the Patterner. "I can only hide in my woods"..spring where Rose had named her ten years ago. She stood there; the dog sat down beside her and.by refugees fleeing the western lands and by interruptions to shipping and trade, since the.Now Medra felt that he had been asked the question on which the rest of his life hung, for good or evil. Again he stood silent a while. He started to speak, and didn't speak, and finally spoke. "I could not save one, not one, not the one who saved me," he said. "Nothing I know could have set her free. I know nothing. If you know how to be free, I beg you, teach me!"
